SENATE....No. 13.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

To the President of the Senate :

SIR,—

In compliance with the provisions of the Act of April 28, 1849, I have the honor to transmit to you, to be laid before the Legislature, the Annual Report on the State Library, for the year 1849.

I have the honor to be,

Very respectfully,

Your obt. serv't,

BARNAS SEARS, Librarian,

STATE LIBRARY,

Jan. 15th, 1850.

LIBRARIAN'S REPORT.

To the Honorable Legislature of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts :

By an Act passed April 28, 1849, it is made the duty of the Librarian of the State Library, to "Report to the Legislature annually, in the month of January, the receipts and expenditures on account of the library, with a list of all books, maps, and charts, acquired since the last report, specifying those obtained by exchange, donation, or purchase; and those, if any, which have been lost or are missing; and make such suggestions, in relation to the library, as may lead to its improvement."

In pursuance of the above statute the librarian presents the following as his

ANNUAL REPORT:

During the past year, (1849,) no books have been purchased for the library, and consequently the annual appropriation made by the Legislature to increase the library, has not been called for. Unfinished works and periodical publications, in continuation of previous volumes or numbers,—a subscription for which was authorized by former committees, are all the additions to the library that have been made by purchase. These facts will explain why the amounts received and expended on account of the library for the year, are so small as they appear in the following account :

MEDALS.

The medals, thirteen in number, presented to the Commonwealth by the French government, and the medals, six in number, presented to the same by His Holiness the Pope, through Mr. Alexander Vattermare, have been placed, under the direction of the former librarian, in beautiful cases, which have been permanently fixed in the library.

The statute of April 28, 1849, already quoted, invites "such suggestions in relation to the library as may lead to its improvement." The present librarian received charge of the library on the first of June last, and found it kept with care and in good condition. Its present order and arrangement, are to be ascribed mainly to the taste and judgment of his predecessor, who has had the continued charge of it from its establishment in 1826.

The only intimation contained in the enactments of the Legislature, respecting the particular character of the works which are to constitute the State library, is found in the act by which it was instituted. By the second section of this act, an annual appropriation is made "to procure such books, manuscripts, and charts, works of science and the arts, as tend to illustrate the resources and means of improvement of this Commonwealth and of the United States." The nature of most of the additions made by the successive library committees, with the approval of the General Court, and the legal provisions for procuring the statutes, legislative documents, and law reports of the federal and state governments, sufficiently indicate a purpose to render the library special in its character, or particularly adapted to the wants and convenience of the General Court, and of the various officers and agents of the State government. As extensive general libraries exist in the immediate vicinity, comparatively little would probably be accomplished for the public benefit by forming another library of similar character. It is, therefore, suggested, that, in the additions hereafter made by purchase, reference be had exclusively to the particular object for which the State library was established, and has received the annual appropriations of the Legislature. It must be obvious, that more important public ends would be gained, and that even the private convenience, not only of the members of the Legislature, but of professional men, and especially those of the legal profession, would be more effectually subserved, by augmenting and perfecting a library, thus distinguished from other libraries in character, and complete in kind, though limited in size, than by gathering a much larger number of books of a popular and miscellaneous character, of less value and more easy of access. In the judgment of the librarian, special efforts should be made to obtain books of reference, that may be useful to legislators and public officers, such as legal, political, historical, statistical, economic, and scientific works, which tend to illustrate the history, and exhibit the resources of our country, also, complete collections of the statute laws of the several states, and of the United States.

In order to secure the desired unity and completeness of character and design, it must be important that those entrusted with the responsible control of the library, should have a settled policy, to be governed by similar views from year to year.

An inconvenience, already considerable, and constantly increasing, is occasioned by insufficient room for the suitable disposal and arrangement of the books. Accommodations for a few years, may perhaps be obtained, by a removal from the library rooms, of some articles of curiosity and works of art that now attract company, to the interruption of business ; and by a transfer of some volumes of little importance to the special purposes of the library, to some other institutions or other suitable places, subject to be recalled at the pleasure of the Legislature.

Respectfully submitted,

BARNAS SEARS, Librarian.
